Creating Spaces that Promote Well-Being with Feng Shui

Rooted in Taoism, feng shui (pronounced fung shway, meaning literally wind and water) is the ancient Chinese art of placement... a kind of environmental psychology. At its core are common-sense land surveying, architectural and design concepts aimed at creating living and working spaces in which people function effectively.

An environment that is comfortable, bright, well lit and spacious with good energy flow stimulates good health, positive thinking, and in the end, results in the betterment and advancement of one's own well-being and/or that of any business.

Please join Karen to learn about these basic feng shui design concepts that promote well-being.

KAREN LARKIN has a BS in Interior Design from the University of Minnesota and a Black Sect Buddhist Feng Shui Certification from the Wind and Water School of Feng Shui in Minneapolis. Karen also has trained with Evana Maggiore in Fashion Feng Shui, a Chinese element approach to personal fashion, and with Karen Kingston in Sacred Space Clearing. She has over 25 years experience as a professional interior designer in both commercial and residential venues where she incorporates eastern energy philosophies into her design.
