Peace gives way to Joy

Sound is an ancient and universal form of healing used in many cultures and spiritual traditions around the world. Sound healing touches and transforms on a physical, emotional and spiritual level.

With the use of crystal bowls and guided imagery, each person is given the opportunity to get in touch with the deep harmony that resides in each one of us.

Sacred energy streams work through me to align with the sound signatures of each person and with the group as a collective.

Support your own transformation within and join me in the healing space created through sacred sound.
