

November 17, 2012

Our November 17th program features the semi-annual art bazaar. Our guest speaker is Colleayn Klaibourne, Master Healer, Medical Intuitive, and Artist, who will share with us her insights on using the healing energy and the help of our guides and angels to enhance the creative process.

Colleayn Klaibourne is a Spring Forest Qigong Master Healer and has spent two decades helping individuals and animals in her private healing practice, Qigong classes, and Wellness Group. She is a Medical Intuitive, Intuitive Reader and Medium, a Certified level 1 and 2 Spring Forest Qigong Instructor, Spiritual Mentor, and Artist. Colleayn came to the intuitive path following a near-death experience when she was in college. She will share her near death experience and her encounter with angels that helped shape her creative life.

Colleayn began practicing qigong following an illness that was not relieved by any other modality. She is passionate about health and healing and helping others create profound changes in their lives.

Healing energy and angels are important dimensions of Colleayn's art and she will share with us ways to use these energies to improve our creative processes. Her talk will encompass:

- The creative process and how to move through blocks to release our creativity.
- Asking angels for creative help; which angels to contact; how to connect with them; and how to sense them.
- The Healing power of Mandalas: art for body, mind, emotions and spirit and how Mandalas help us in our healing journey.
- She will guide us on an Angel Meditation to connect with our Angels, receive healing, and to unleash blocks in our creativity.
- We will have an opportunity to work one on one to open our creative process.

Colleayn's art will be on display at the artists' bazaar following the meeting. For more information on Colleayn and the services she provides, please visit www.Qigong.ckgalleria.com Her Etsy store is at: www.ckgalleria.etsy.com and her telephone number is 651-388-6782.
